

Record in the Commens Bibliography. Retrieved from http://www.commens.org/bibliography/journal\_article/conway-charles-g-2008-normative-sciences-work-and-play,
08.01.2026.

---

Type: Article in Journal
Author: Conway, Charles G.
Title: The Normative Sciences at Work and Play
Year: 2008
Journal: Transactions of the Charles S. Peirce Society
Volume: 44
Issue: 2
Pages: 288-311
Keywords: Normative Science, Neglected Argument, Musement, Theology, Abduction
Abstract: The article focuses on Charles Sanders Peirce's use of Normative Science into three junctures associated with his Neglected Argument for the Reality of God (NARG). It includes the differentiation musement from play, the portrayal of the humble argument as the first stage of an inquiry into its confirmability and in the generation of the humble argument via musement. The author relates that he begins with a short review of the Normative Sciences and abduction to show that NARG is not an argument. Further, the author adds that he ventures into the priar-patch of philosophical theology because the subject matter of NARG is theological and religious.
ISSN: 00091774
Language: English