

Record in the Commens Bibliography. Retrieved from http://www.commens.org/bibliography/journal_article/obrien-william-p-2014-eucharistic-species-light-peirces-sign-theory, 27.06.2025.

Type: Article in Journal

Author: O'Brien, William P.

Title: The Eucharistic Species in Light of Peirce's Sign Theory

Year: 2014

Journal: Theological Studies

Volume: 75

Issue: 1

Pages: 74-93

Keywords: Theology, Eucharist

Abstract: The author argues that the thought of American polymath Charles Sanders Peirce (1839-1914) offers a coherent, adequate, and versatile framework for understanding the eucharistic species as "signs." Specifically, the historical analyses in the first and second parts of the article provide a conceptual grammar for showing the usefulness of Peirce's sign theory to interpret the understanding of the Eucharist as expressed in Sacrosanctum concilium (1963). The article concludes by suggesting how these clarifications might help promote cross-disciplinary study of the liturgy.

ISSN: 00405639

DOI: 10.1177/0040563913519035

Language: English