Record in the Commens Bibliography. Retrieved from http://www.commens.org/bibliography/manuscript/peirce-charles-s-1906-phaneroscopy-ms-r-298, 08.11.2025.

Type: Manuscript

Author: Peirce, Charles Sanders

Title: Phaneroscopy
Manuscript MS [R] 298

ld:

Year: 1906

Abstract / From the Robin Catalogue:

Description: A. MS., G-1905-1h, pp. 1-36, plus 20 pp. of variants.

This article, intended for the January 1907 Monist, was to have followed the Monist article of October 1906. Published as follows: 4.534n1 (pp. 2-3); 4.6-11 (from pp- 5-16); 4.553n1 (pp. 18-19); 1.306-311 (pp. 26-36). Unpublished are CSP's thoughts on the relevance of existential graphs to the truth of pragmaticism; his view that existential graphs afford a moving picture of thought, and his reflections on telepathy, spiritualism, and clairvoyance. Vividness and intensity of feeling: CSP's disagreement with Hume.

Collected Papers, Cross-reference index:

"Phaneroscopy {phan}." Portions dated c.1906 published at: [CP] 1.306-311, 4.6-11, 4.534n1, 4.553n1 (p. 441).

Language: English