A sinsign is a definite individual existent which is significant because of the circumstances of its existence, which are either significant or include the very object denoted.

References: MS [R] 284:59
Date of Quote: 1905 [c.]