Term: Equiparance

Quote: …an equiparance; that is, the relation of B to A is essentially the same as that of A to B, so far as the duality of the pair is concerned. But no equiparance whatever, with the exception of the very few that are necessary, such as identity, coexistence, etc., is a logically simple relation.

References: EP 2:381

Date of Quote: 1906

URL: http://www.commens.org/dictionary/entry/quote-basis-pragmaticism-31