| Term:Quote:                                     | Object[A sign] must be determined to correspond, according to some principle, and bysome species of causation, with something else, called its Object . In a word,whether physically, rationally, or otherwise directly or indirectly, its Object, asagent, acts upon the sign, as patient. |
