Term: Necessity
Quote: Necessity [...] is that mode of being which is not subject to the principle of excluded middle, since it may neither be that A is necessarily B, nor that A is necessarily not B. [—] How can the principle of excluded middle fail to apply? By the function of determination being given over to the person addressed.
References: MS [R] 96
Date of Quote: 1905 [c.]
URL: http://www.commens.org/dictionary/entry/quote-branches-geometry-existential-graphs-r-0