Term: Judgment
Quote: In a mind which is capable of logical criticism of its beliefs, there must be a sensation of believing, which shall serve to show what ideas are connected. The recognition that two objects present belong together as one is a judgment. All ideas arise in judgments.
References: W 3:107; CP 7.360
Date of Quote: 1873
URL: http://www.commens.org/dictionary/entry/quote-chapter-v-significance-thought-lies-its-reference-future-0