Term: Symbol

Quote: A symbol is a representamen which refers only to such objects and in such respects as it might determine an interpretant to refer to those objects in those respects, and is hereby alone essentially a representamen, not in virtue of a physical relation or of an agreement of characters, but by a relation subsisting only by virtue of a representation. There must, therefore, be some general rule which connects the symbol with its objects; and it represents whatever that general rule determines it to represent.

Source: Peirce, C. S. (1901-1902 [c.]). Definitions for Baldwin's Dictionary [R]. MS [R] 1147.

References: MS [R] 1147

Date of Quote: 1901-1902 [c.]

URL: http://www.commens.org/dictionary/entry/quote-definitions-baldwins-dictionary-r-9