Proposition

It is a perfection of a sign if it separately represents its object; in which case it becomes a proposition, and is true or false.

References: MS [R] 9:1

Date of Quote: 1904

URL: http://www.commens.org/dictionary/entry/quote-foundations-mathematics-r-1