Term: Entelechy

Quote: The mode of being of the composition of thought, which is always of the nature of the attribution of a predicate to a subject, is the living intelligence which is the creator of all intelligible reality, as well as of the knowledge of such reality. It is the entelechy, or perfection of being.

References: CP 6.341

Date of Quote: 1907

URL: http://www.commens.org/dictionary/entry/quote-fourth-curiosity-1