Term: Sign
Quote: A Sign is a Cognizable that, on the one hand, is so determined (i.e., specialized, bestimmt) by something other than itself, called its Object […], while, on the other hand, it so determines some actual or potential Mind, the determination whereof I term the Interpretant created by the Sign, that that Interpreting Mind is therein determined mediately by the Object.
References: EP 2:492
Date of Quote: 1909
URL: http://www.commens.org/dictionary/entry/quote-letters-william-james-21