Term:	Representamen
Quote:	… representation necessarily involves a genuine triad. For it involves a sign, or representamen, of some kind, outward or inward, mediating between an object and an interpreting thought. Now this is neither a matter of fact, since thought is general, nor is it a matter of law, since thought is living.
Source:	Peirce, C. S. (1896 [c.]). Logic of Mathematics: An attempt to develop my categories from within. MS [R] 900.
References:	CP 1.480
Date of Quote:	1896 [c.]
URL:	http://www.commens.org/dictionary/entry/quote-logic-mathematics-attempt-develop-my-categories-within-3