Term: Collection
Quote: A collection is whatever stands to a general predicate of single subjects in a certain relation sui generis, such that for every such predicate there is a single collection and for every collection there is such a predicate.
References: MS [R] 26:2
Date of Quote: 1897 [c.]