Dissociation

Dissociation is that separation which, in the absence of a constant association, is permitted by the law of association of images. It is the consciousness of one thing, without the necessary simultaneous consciousness of the other.

References: W 2:50; CP 1.549

Date of Quote: 1867

URL: http://www.commens.org/dictionary/entry/quote-new-list-categories-15