Term: Sign

Quote: A Sign is anything which represents something else (so far as it is complete), and if it represents itself it is as a part of another sign which represents something other than itself, and it represents itself in other circumstances, in other connections. [—]

Either a Sign is to be defined as something which truly represents something else or else as something which professes to represent something.

References: MS [R] 277
Date of Quote: 1909.10.28
URL: http://www.commens.org/dictionary/entry/quote-prescott-book-4