Belief

A state of belief may be very unhappy in consequence of the character of the proposition believed. But it is a state in which the stimulus of doubt is allayed, and in so far is satisfactory.

References: MS [R] 596:12-13

Date of Quote: 1902-03 [c.]