Speculative Grammar

The whole discussion of the logical nature of the different kinds of possible signs makes up the first division of logic, or Speculative Grammar. The second division, Critic, discusses the relation of signs to their objects, that is, their truth. The third division, Methodeutic, discusses the relations of signs to their interpretants, that is, their knowledge-producing value.

References: MS [R] 793
Date of Quote: 1906 [c.]
URL: http://www.commens.org/dictionary/entry/quote-signs-r-13