A calculus [...] is a system of symbols by transforming which according to a certain routine one is enabled to pass from a premiss to a conclusion in a particularly speedy and direct way.