

Conditional Habit

1905 [c.] | Pragmatism, Prag [R] | CP 5.517 n.

By a conditional habit, I mean a determination of a man's occult nature tending to cause him to act in a certain general way in case certain general circumstances should arise and in case he should be animated by a certain purpose