Description: The Peirce Studies Group (Grupo de Estudios Peirceanos: GEP) at the University of Navarra promotes the study of the work of Charles S. Peirce, especially in Spain and in the Spanish speaking countries, in the belief that his thought may offer some key insights into problems related to the culture, science and philosophy of the 21st century. The Group offers a platform for an exchange of ideas regarding the work of Peirce, American pragmatism, its reception in Europe and in the Hispanic world, and related topics. Since its inception, the activities of the Group have included the participation of scholars from different fields, including history, linguistics, literature, philosophy of science, law, communication studies and theology.
