

News item. Retrieved from <http://www.commens.org/news/item/new-issue-cognitio-published>, 16.10.2019.

Category: Publication

Title: New issue of Cognitio published

Description: Vol. 15, n. 1, available on line (texts now available to read/download as pdf files).

Papers

- Getting Over the Quarrel Between Philosophy and Poetry / Douglas R. Anderson 13-24
- Peirce and Spinoza's Pragmaticist Methaphysics / Shannon Dea 25-36
- Intellectual Gravity and Elective Attractions: The Provenance of Peirce's Categories in Friedrich von Schiller / David A. Dilworth 37-72
- Doing Epistemology Scientifically: Dewey versus Russell / Paul Forster 73-88
- "Things Unreasonably Compulsory": A Peircean Challenge to a Humean Theory of Perception, Particularly With Respect to Perceiving Necessary Truths / Catherine Legg 89-112
- The Present Place and Purpose of American Philosophy / Erin McKenna, Scott L. Pratt 113-124
- Thomas Reid (1710 - 1796) on the Nature and Possibility of Language (Português) / Roberto Hofmeister Pich, Jacson Jonas Faller 125-148
- What Exactly Does Thinking Mean? A Few Possible Answers to Preliminary Questions Concerning a Pragmatic-semiotic-psychoanalytic Theory of Thought / Vera Saller 149-172
- Thinking about the Content of Thoughts: Advance or Regression? / Sofia Inês Albornoz Stein 173-186

Link: TOC

Keywords: Cognitio